A LESSON FOR US BOYS

Foes—Where is the Kingdom of God?

The Kingdom of God is where there is a King, and Kings are the King of the Kingdom of God, the King of all within it.

Every kingdom has its rank, its products, its organization. You get a river where there are ships on it. You have a lake where there are boats on it. You have a forest where there are trees on it. You have a field where there are crops on it. You have a road where there are wheels on it. You have a field where there are leaves on it. You have a forest where there are leaves on it. You have a road where there are wheels on it. You have a river where there are ships on it. You have a forest where there are leaves on it. You have a lake where there are boats on it. You have a river where there are ships on it.

Now, it would be true if, in the Kingdom of God, you say, "I am a king," then you would be the king. But if you say, "I am a king," you are not the king. You are just pretending to be a king. If you say, "I am a king," you are not the king. You are just pretending to be a king. If you say, "I am a king," you are not the king. You are just pretending to be a king.
